

Research Guide

HISTORY – World History

George Mason University Libraries

This Guide lists a few of the basic reference resources for World History (excluding the United States) available to researchers at the Fenwick Library. A related guide, “History – US,” may also contain information of interest.

The Guide is divided into the following – sometimes overlapping – categories:

World History (General)	Ancient World	Africa	Library of Congress
Special Topics	Medieval & Early	Asia	Call Number Ranges
Historiography	Modern Periods	Europe	& Subject Headings
Military History	Modern Period	Latin America
Newspapers Full-Text		Middle East

These categories may then be further subdivided into the following types of resources:

guides to research	indexes/abstracts and bibliographies
encyclopedias, dictionaries, handbooks	historical atlases
large-scale histories	statistical compilations
biographical information	resource guides

All items are in the Fenwick Reference Department unless otherwise noted. Call numbers for specific works will indicate general classification ranges where related materials may be found.

Note that sources in World History (General) will probably also cover subjects in the other categories (e.g., Historical Abstracts indexes non-North American history since 1450 – regardless of specific time period or geographic area).

For the United States see the two separate Guides, both entitled “History – United States,” accessible from the University Libraries’ homepage under (1) “Help with Research – Research Guides (in PDF format)” for paper resources and under (2) “Web Guides and Tools” for electronic resources.

CRL attempts to collect and preserve otherwise inaccessible and important research materials in print, microform, and electronic formats; aside from subject and area studies collections, the Center also acquires global newspapers, scholarly journals, and international doctoral dissertations; GMU students and faculty can request materials from CRL through Document Acquisition and Delivery (DAD/ILL)

Electronic Full-Text Journals

Collections of electronic full-text journals (like History Cooperative, JSTOR, Project Muse, Cambridge Online Journals, and Oxford University Press Journals) can be very helpful in identifying relevant articles. These collections usually provide the capability both of browsing single issues and of searching journals individually, collectively, or in groups. Access to individual journals – and the most complete and current information on the Library's holdings – can be found at the Library's homepage <<http://library.gmu.edu/>> under "E-Journal Finder." (The University Libraries may also have paper subscriptions to some of these titles.) Note, however, that the appearance of the most recent issue of some electronic titles may lag behind that of their print counterparts.

Collections of electronic full-text journals are limited both in the number of titles represented and in the time coverage for those journals. Indexes which give only bibliographic citations (or abstracts) -- rather than full-text -- cover more journal titles for greater periods of time and should also be searched.

Electronic Full-Text Journals

A number of history journals are available in electronic format. See the "e-journals" link on the Library's homepage. See also the various online providers (e.g., Cambridge Journals Online, JSTOR, Oxford Journals online, Project Muse) at the Library's homepage under "Databases".
