Digital National Security Archive - CIA Covert Operations II: The Year of Intelligence, 1975	The first full year of the Gerald R. Ford administration is known as “The Year of Intelligence,” denoting a season of inquiry into America's spy agencies set off by a wave of media revelations of official abuses that predate the current era of media and congressional investigations by decades. Public outrage led to successive investigations by a blue-ribbon presidential panel (the Rockefeller Commission), a special committee of the United States Senate (Church Committee) and a select committee of the U.S. House of Representatives (Pike Committee). The “Year of Intelligence” collection documents these investigations. This collection is not available on the Chadwyck-Healey platform.
